

Lyrics by: Nora Freeman

Gaggle: NYC Metro

Tune: Puff, the Magic Dragon

Date written or updated:

Corporate Religion

I'm a corporation And I believe in god
That doesn't mean I have to do
Anything that's hard

Like having safe workplaces
For my employees
Or making sure my waste products
Don't kill all the trees

Though I'm a legal fiction
My immortal soul
Will surely go to hell if I
Cover birth control

Whether they are Hindu
A Jew or atheist
All my female workers
Must submit to this

Corporate Christians can both
Have and eat our cake
Control employees' private lives
While they work without a break

Post-birth human beings
Have no right to life
But the new corporate life form
Will never ever die!