

House of the Epstein Crimes

Description

There is a house in New Mexico in sage and pinion pines
It was the ruin of many young girls:
The house of the Epstein crimes

The crystal chandeliers shone bright upon the polished floors
But dread and darkness chilled the air, and wept behind each door

No lullaby in that wide land, to calm your frightened cries
No mamma's care, no daddy's hand
Just empty gilded lies

O daughters, hurt so deeply now living with the pain, you were so young, you could not know you'd never be the same

Coyotes wail where children prayed for help
but no one heard Now Bondi locked their truths away
The victims now are smeared

We must expose this cover-up of wealthy powerful men,
their cruelties, depravities,
in the house of the Epstein sins
