Peace-Making

We sing of our world being damaged by war
The smart bombs that ain't just so smart anymore

Collateral damage is one great big hoax

When the people who die are just simply plain folks

V2) We know selling arms makes a pretty good buck

You can smuggle them out in the back of a truck

Or a plane, or by train, they criss-cross the earth

Of machine guns and landmines, there's simply no dearth

V3) The leaders are busy all taking their stands

The people are saying, 'no blood in our lands.

We want to build houses, plant fields and trees.'

And grannies are saying, 'Love justice and peace.'
