

Recycling Reminiscences

Description

When I've sorted all my bottles
Tied my cardboard real tight
Washed my cans, flattened my plastics
Recycled every thing in sight
Then I spend precious time with my green bin
My egg shells and my coffee grounds and suchhhhh
What a feeling, I am reeling!
That one scrawny granny had so much!

2) Every week is a reminder
Through every bottle, box and can
Of yummy things that I have eaten
Then sorted for the garbageman
It's a time for meditation
Recycling kinda tweaks my memory
Another week slipped by so quickly
Sorting gave it back to me (at least the meals)

3) Oh I wish there's more I could do
After my little box is done
Alphabetize every label?
As I watch a lovely setting sun
I'm policing all my neighbors
To check they know just what is going where
Up in heaven I'll be an asset
They really know recycling there!

Category

1. Environment & Energy

Date Created

May 17, 2009

Author

kingston

Meta Fields

Youtube Link : www.youtube.com/watch?v=EI7QNtXqavo

Tune : Shall We Gather At The River?

Gaggle : Kingston

Lyrics By : Rose DeShaw