(Verse 1)

C

With tariffs in the air now, and prices rising fast,

Im-port costs are climbing. Can this really last?

But we're all feeling pressure like we knew we would.

G C

CHORUS

C C7

Tariffs, oh tariffs, what is the cost?

F

Trade wars, high prices, are we all lost?

C

G7

This great big mess is Trump's design,

C

C

So the easiest solution is for him to resign.

(Verse 2)

C

Our goods from overseas now are getting quite a fee,

G

From steel to soybeans, what will it do to me?

C

The markets are uncertain with every move they make,

Trying to keep it steady, but how, for goodness sake!

G C

C

C7

Tariffs, oh tariffs, what is the cost?

F

Trade wars, high prices, are we all lost?

C

G7

This great big mess is Trump's design,

C G7 C

So the easiest solution is for him to resign.

1-2-3-4 1-2-G7

(Verses 3 and 4)

C

I went to the market just the other day,

G

Lookin' for some bargains in the usual way.

C

The cost of milk and bread all rose. I asked the grocer why.

First he just scratched his head, and this was his reply: (go immediately to next verse)

G C

C

Well, the farmer's paying more for the seed and the hay.

G

And the trucker's got a fee just to haul it away

C

So by the time it's sittin' on the grocery shelf,

C

You're pay-ing double just to feed yourself. •
