

Lyrics by: Vicki Ryder

Gaggle: North Carolina

Tune: Acres of Clams

Date written or updated:

The Poor People's Campaign: A Moral Revival

Written for the Poor People's Campaign: A National Call For Moral Revival

There's something that's troubling the Grannies,

So we toss and we turn late at night,

Wond'rin' why there are so many hungry

In a land that's so rich, that ain't right!

It's time for a moral revival so

We've joined the Poor People's Campaign

To end poverty in our nation

We've joined the Poor People's Campaign.

The government spends all our taxes

For fighting in lands far away,

Killing women and kids without reason;

It's no wonder our hair's turning gray.

But it's time for a moral revival so

We've joined the Poor People's Campaign

To end senseless wars 'cross the planet

We've joined the Poor People's Campaign.

They're drilling and fracking and dumping

To fatten their wallets, you see,

And they don't really care if we live or die

It's enough to make Mother Earth weep.

Now it's time for a moral revival so

We've joined the Poor People's Campaign

To stop them from pois'ning our planet,

We've joined the Poor People's Campaign.

Equality for all the people

They say is the law of the land;

But our system is blatantly racist

So together for justice we'll stand.

And it's time for a moral revival so

We've joined the Poor People's Campaign

And together we'll pick up the torch and work

For the national Poor People's Campaign.

We're not afraid of their handcuffs;

They can lock us in jail if they must;

But we Grannies won't sit by in silence

While they throw us all under the bus.

And it's time for a moral revival so
We've joined the Poor People's Campaign
[And we want all you folks to join with us
In the national Poor People's Campaign.] 2x